Founded in 1619, Dulwich College is uniquely fortunate in its position, combining the green and spacious surroundings of its estate with excellent communications from central London. Victoria is only 11 minutes by train and ample parking is available.

Dating from 1866 onwards, the present buildings provide a versatile mixture of classical and contemporary styles to suit all occasions. With eight main venue halls holding up to 350 people in the largest, the College can accommodate:

- Weddings and celebrations
- Residential and day conferences and exhibitions
- Meetings and seminars
- Company team building days and sports days

'We were so impressed with the professionalism and helpfulness of everybody at Dulwich College – right from when we first booked the wedding, through to the day itself. The afternoon tea looked stunning, everybody is still talking about it even now!'

Katherine and Kingsley

The Great Hall (left) is ideal for dinners, banquets and large presentations. It can be used in conjunction with the Lower Hall (overleaf) and Cloisters (top right) for pre-dinner drinks and evening receptions. The Lower Hall opens onto the front lawns which are available for your drinks and photographs.

The College in-house caterers are happy to create bespoke menus for your event or you can choose from an array of tempting set suggestions. External caterers are permitted from our approved list only.

'Please pass on our special thanks to all the staff who were there on the day – nothing was too much bother for them and so many people have commented on how helpful and friendly everyone was.'

Kate and Piers

Situated apart from the main College buildings, the Old Library (right) has a vaulted ceiling giving the room a sense of light and space. It is available for civil ceremonies, partnerships, concerts and smaller receptions.

The Salle (overleaf), on the upper floor of the Pavilion, has a warm and friendly atmosphere with balconies offering beautiful views of the College grounds. The Salle is complemented by a self-contained bar and kitchen.

'We have been nothing but totally impressed at every stage of our planning and on the day. The standard of service, catering, planning and organisation have been outstanding and we are very grateful for all the help you have given us along the way. All of our guests have praised the college as not only a beautiful and impressive venue, but also a fantastic place to hold a wedding.'

Cassie and James

'Thank you and the hospitality team for making the whole thing work so incredibly smoothly. The party was simply tremendous and all my friends commented how superb the food was, so top marks for the chefs.'
